

14 things I learned in 2014

The end of the year is quickly approaching, and I love to look back and think of all that has happened in our family over the past year. Gina at Someday They'll Be Saints posted 14 things she learned during 2014, and I couldn't resist putting together a list of my own.

