

7 Quick Takes: Can we put this winter on ice, the quest for summer day care, biographies for children, cousin fun, and more

It snowed this week. Again. I'm feeling the effects of the lack of routine. Our children really should be in school now and then. But the snow and ice just keeps coming. Have you ever read The Monster at the End of This Book? I feel a little like Grover as on page