

7 Quick Takes: Cousin fun, my failure as an aunt, Gotcha Day celebrations, singing the homework blues, and an Orioles game

Have I mentioned that we have two of our favorite out-of-town cousins visiting Baltimore this week? I haven't? Well, then I have truly been remiss in my blogging efforts. In fact, I know I have failed you because even they—we'll call them Elise and Origen—have mentioned that they have not been appearing