

7 Quick Takes: Enjoying the pseudo-spring, lost and found items, The Andy Griffith Show, more Pokemon, and more

We are enjoying the most beautiful weather. I know this isn't how February is supposed to be in Baltimore, and I know our boys were rooting for some snow—and some snow days—but you won't hear me complaining. We've spent some marvelous time outside, all without gloves and hats and...dare I say,