

7 Quick Takes Friday: A funny thing happened while I was in the shower, selecting pumpkins and costumes, a birthday party, and teachers who love our children

For years I wouldn't get in the shower unless my husband was home. I could only imagine what havoc might occur if the children were unsupervised. At a certain point, I decided that if I put on a quick TV show, I could jump in the shower and jump out