

7 Quick Takes Friday: A trip to the ER, car problems, baptism gifts, baby names, and an act of kindness

When I arrived at school to pick our sons up on Tuesday, our younger son was holding an ice pack on his thumb. It had gotten caught in a door—a big heavy metal one—and he said it hurt. I had stopped for chicken nuggets for the boys so I could pick