

7 Quick Takes Friday: Back to School Night, supporting adoption at Wendy's, an unexpected gift, a veggie cake, rockets, and how much I love missing soccer season

We had Back to School Night last night and then I met with my prayer group. So forgive me if these takes are quick, quick, quick. I don't know how other people feel after Back to School Night, but I always leave feeling great about the Catholic education our children are