

7 Quick Takes Friday: Birthday excitement, St. Nicholas came, Advent moments, the games we play (and why I lose), free cookies, and more

Today our kindergartener turns 6! From the birthday boy's perspective, this day has been forever coming. Every day for so long he has been saying that it would never, ever come. But today it's here! I can hardly imagine how we will get through the day with all the excitement! I will