

7 Quick Takes Friday: Changing lasagna, a nightmare, bumper stickers, butterflies, and how we became owners of an ugly chair

Because Leo is interested in Garfield comics, I made lasagna for our Sunday dinner. He was excited to eat it, but he mentioned more than once how good it would taste without the meat and cheese. So the next night I took cooked lasagna noodles and a jar of spaghetti sauce,