

7 Quick Takes Friday: Lucky numbers, fun at the pediatrician's office, the missing library book, homework helpers, slap bracelet valentines, and more

Imagine you're having a really busy day, and you have no idea how you'll get everything accomplished. And you decide to stop to get a bagel with scallion cream cheese because who knows when you will eat again—and scallion cream cheese is the best. Then the cashier rings you up and