

7 Quick Takes Friday: Our sons' career plans, being Catholic, a beach weekend, and the joy of coming home to a dry basement

Our sons have decided they are going to open a gas station together. Their only disagreement is over which one of them will get to do the best job in the world—which is, of course, this. I suggested maybe they could take turns.