

7 Quick Takes Friday: Solving mysteries, genius baby clothes, the best place for dinner, a first fishing rod, Pete the Cat's visit, and a dragon delivery

A few days ago I wrote about my frantic search for our younger son's baptism photo and I referred to the "anonymous family member or friend" who had taken it. That's my thumb covering our son's face, just to add to the general confusion. The actual photo