

7 Quick Takes Friday: St. Patrick's Day fun, some tea with your sugar, my Lenten sacrifice, science fair excitement, and spontaneous contests

How did you celebrate St. Patrick's Day? I baked Irish soda bread last weekend and it has lasted all week, mostly because our children don't eat it. My plans to invite ourselves over to my parents' house for a St. Patrick's Day feast fell through when Daniel wasn't feeling well yesterday.