

Anne Arundel kids relish BYCC

Archbishop Spalding senior Elizabeth Gorman attended her second BYCC this weekend. She never doubted that she would be back. "You really learn a lot during the workshops," Gorman said. The parishioner of Odenton's St. Joseph was one of two teens from her parish. The biggest draw for Gorman was the ability to meet other Catholic teens. "We share the same experience and we're all in the same boat," Gorman said. Fellow parishioner Rachel Bigora said BYCC had a mix of activities perfect for her peers. "It has its serious points, but also allows you to have fun," Bigora said.
