

Archbishop Broglio addresses St. Mary's students

By Catholic Review Staff

Archbishop Timothy Broglio, head of the Archdiocese for U.S. Military Services, was the commencement speaker at the May 25 graduation ceremony for St. Mary's High School in Annapolis, held at Carroll Gardens. Three of the school's 122 graduates will attend military service academies in the fall.

The Catholic Review will feature a special graduation section in the June 14 publication.
