

Archbishop is a real hero

I want to express my strong support for Archbishop Edwin F. O'Brien. He is a real hero to not only the Catholics he leads, but to all people. His tireless efforts to help our local communities' spiritual welfare and to improve their schools and educational systems should be recognized and applauded.

Archbishop O'Brien's work ethic, dedication, focus and commitment to our diocese is unparalleled in these tough and challenging times. We in the Baltimore metropolitan area are very fortunate to have been blessed with his installment as our leader. He is in my prayers daily, and my hope is that his future successes are even greater than those so far.
