

Archbishop Lori offers invocation for horse racing industry's Alibi Breakfast

By Catholic Review Staff

On May 14, horse racing enthusiasts, trainers, owners and members of the media gathered in the clubhouse at Pimlico Race Course for the annual Preakness Alibi Breakfast, where the Maryland Jockey Club gives away awards and racing enthusiasts make their predictions for the winner of the Preakness Stakes on May 16. This year, Archbishop William E. Lori offered the invocation at the event.

To view a slideshow, navigate the arrows below. Also see:

Three graduation ceremonies in three days for parents of triplets

Beyond the Bell: Cristo Rey performers step out of comfort zone