

Beyond the CR pages: Calvert Hall's Thanksgiving food drive

✖ In this week's Catholic Review, you'll see a brief item about Calvert Hall's annual Thanksgiving food drive, which collected 13,000 pounds of food for a series of local outreaches. The classes from the all-boys Towson high school even turned it into a contest to see who could collect the most cans.

Campus minister Marc Parisi was kind enough to forward some thoughts from the students at Calvert Hall on this effort. The photo was taken by Evan Zimmer, an intern here at The Catholic Review and a member of the class of 2013 at Calvert Hall.

"I really appreciated our theme this year, 'A place at the table' because it made me think not only of myself but the needs of everyone in our community."