

Catholic Review starts Facebook page

The Catholic Review has joined the Facebook revolution.

The newspaper started a page on the popular social networking site Sept. 1 to keep its readers and others aware of the latest news in the Archdiocese of Baltimore.

Located at: www.facebook.com/pages/The-Catholic-Review/269803035106, the page will alert people to stories, pictures and videos recently updated on The Catholic Review's Web site, www.catholicreview.org.

The Catholic Review's Facebook page will be updated regularly to include many national and international news items as well.

Facebook claims more than 250 million users and 120 million accounts that log on each day. Many of the archdiocese's faithful – from priests to lay people – are active each day on Facebook.
