

Children start with a mother and a father

I know that it was a long time ago but it seems that many people, particularly politicians, have forgotten – or have chosen to forget – that this country was founded based on freedom of religion not freedom from religion.

Our purportedly Catholic governor said he approved of same-sex marriage so that the children would have the same benefits as all children. Right there is the inequality. All children start out with a mother and a father. If partners in same-sex marriages have children, it is because they are attempting to raise someone else's innocent child (or children). I guess they don't understand that God created humans – and basically everything else – male and female for a reason. How sad! These children would be much better off in an orphanage. Where does all this leave the credibility of the governor? Last but certainly not least, does anyone read the Bible?
