

Close your eyes and hold out your hands

Every parent wants to be fair. And every child believes someone else is getting a larger portion or a better treat. In our house we even argue over who gets the stuck-together ice cubes in his chicken noodle soup. So sometimes when I am handing out snacks, I say, "Hold out