

Coming Nov. 19 at midnight- Harry Potter review

Here's a tease of my review of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows.

"In the opening minutes of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows Part I, it becomes brutally clear this is no longer a children's story.

It has been said that the world has watched Harry Potter and friends grow up before our eyes. I'd disagree. We've seen their childhoods destroyed. The innocence in Potter's eyes that greeted us six films ago is long gone."

In case you missed it, here's my story on the Harry Potter series in The Catholic Review .

I'll see you here Nov. 19 for the review when the clock strikes midnight. For now, watch the trailer.

[youtube=https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KT0iPw3g9Yc&fs=1&hl=en_US]