

Correct decision was made on school closing

For many years Immaculate Conception parish was the center of my life. In the fall of 1952, Mrs. Tinder, an excellent teacher and mother of Monsignor Tinder, became the first layperson on the grammar school faculty. My two sisters are graduates of Towson Catholic High School.

The comprehensive coverage (CR, July 16) of the closing of Towson Catholic was very helpful. It was also encouraging to see how forcefully Archbishop O'Brien supported his pastor in both his words and actions. After reading the various articles, there can be absolutely no doubt that the correct decision was made.
