

Distinctive Scholars recognized

By Catholic Review Staff

Sixty seniors from the 20 Catholic high schools in the Archdiocese of Baltimore were recognized for their academic accomplishments April 24 at Maryvale Preparatory School in Brooklandville, site of this year's Distinctive Scholars Convocation.

Words of congratulations were offered by Dr. Barbara McGraw Edmondson, superintendent of Catholic schools, and the reflection was given by Auxiliary Bishop Mitchell T. Rozanski.

The honorees follow.

Archbishop Curley: Zachary Merkley, Brandon Wancowicz, Derek Wiegmann

Archbishop Spalding: Rebecca Dean, Brady McCaffrey, Julia Menzies

Bishop Walsh: Gregory Mathews, Jack Henry Riley, Marie Ritchie

Calvert Hall: Nicholas Fleming, Tommy Gruebl, Jonathan Young

Catholic High: Emma Dohmeier, Samantha Moxey, Rebecca Sloman

Cristo Rey Jesuit: Jazzmen Crafton, Amanda Garcia, James Lambert

Institute of Notre Dame: Kaitlyn Krall, Ester Paolocci, Marylynne Sitko

John Carroll: Jon Galarraga, Stephanie Meadowcroft, Miranda Ripkin

Loyola Blakefield: Sean Joseph Cassady, Patrick Wade Franks, David Joseph Surine

Maryvale Preparatory: Melanie Cooke, Meredith Lynn, Katherine Matzke

Mercy: Sofia M. Colvin, Eileen C. Quinn, Emily L. Schreiber

Mount de Sales Academy: Natalie Boegel, Sarah Huber, Sarah Walther

Mount St. Joseph: Adam Gracia, Stephen Israel, Joseph Daniel Shawhan

Notre Dame Preparatory: Mary Katherine Helm, Marjorie Eileen Howard, Mary Brogan Sheehey

Our Lady of Mount Carmel: James Dulany, Benjamin Lesane, Kevin McDonough

St. John's Catholic Prep: Katerina Barrientos, Tara Giangrande, Andrew Rivera

Seton Keough: Kayla Budny, Julia Ponton, Meghan Walston

St. Frances Academy: Carlos Amador, Carey Cheek, Kirk Gaddy

St. Maria Goretti: Theresa Barton, Christina Reimond, Patrick Streifel

St. Mary's: Annelise Buck, Jillian Hanna, Evan Pohutsky

Copyright (c) May 2, 2012 CatholicReview.org

To view the slideshow below, click on the arrows at the bottom.