

Let's go to the tapes

This week's Catholic Review will feature a special report on how the practice of the faith has developed in Poland since the collapse of Communism. You can read the story online here. Below are some video reports I put together while I was in Poland, the Czech Republic and Hungary in late May and early June. Check them out if you haven't already had a chance to watch them.

Pope John Paul II's home parish shows love for native son

[youtube=https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MadNhgq1D30]

Our Lady of Czestochowa draws pilgrims

[youtube=https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=J1PYwQjnxpc]

Trumpeter of Krakow

[youtube=https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=f9mbf9rDoa4]

Monument in Hungary safeguards against the plague

[youtube=https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=O9gmOIEeB7Y]

Infant of Prague inspires devotion

[youtube=https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9W-nsedqS0A]