

“Nuns on the bus” deserved more coverage

I read with interest your extensive coverage of the Fortnight for Freedom (CR, July 12). However, I was disappointed to find a very short article buried at the bottom of Page 27 regarding “The Nuns On The Bus” protest of the Paul Ryan budget. The Catholic bishops have publicly denounced the Paul Ryan budget on the grounds that it will be devastating for the poor. These nuns’ efforts in this matter are shining examples of Catholic social justice in action and deserve more prominent coverage.
