

October Baby cast and crew thank Mount de Sales

I got the chance to sit down for an interview with October Baby co-director/writer/producer Jon Erwin and two of the stars of the film earlier today down in Washington.

The movie comes out March 23, but I saw a sneak preview about a month ago. Thanks to the interviews today, you will get plenty of highlights, stories, video and audio from my interview with Irwin, plus stars Rachel Hendrix and Shari Rigby. Until then, I thought I would share something fun with you.

Late last week I got a call from Mount de Sales Academy saying they had reserved a theater for opening day. I shared that news with the October Baby crew and they were excited that the Catonsville school was supporting the film, which is about a teenager who discovers she survived an abortion. Check out their thank you to Mount de Sales in the video below.

Stay tuned to the blog and CatholicReview.org for more in the coming days and weeks.