

Pope, president article was refreshing

The article on the “Pontiff, president meet” (CR, June 14) was well-written and informative. It beautifully told the story of these two world leaders meeting, discussing moral issues and humanitarian needs of those suffering in Iraq and around the world. This was written without the journalists interjecting personal opinions. How absolutely refreshing! I commend these writers. The photographs were also excellent.