

Reader applauds Magliano columns

I am always pleased to read Tony Magliano's articles. He writes in a clear and concise style which helps to educate his readers. Also, I feel that his passion about the issues that we face as Catholics in America today comes through and can spur readers on to action. Please continue to print his articles.