

Sister M. Salvator Cramer, I.H.M., dies

By Catholic Review Staff

A funeral Mass for Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Sister M. Salvator Cramer was offered Dec. 17 in Scranton, Pa. Sister Salvator died Dec. 11. She was 81.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Sister Salvator entered the religious order in 1950, and taught at the former parish school of St. Bernardine in Baltimore from 1953 to 1956. Sister Salvator taught from 1956 to 1996 in New York, Pennsylvania and North Carolina, with a one year break when she served on the support staff of the Marian Convent in Scranton from 1993 to 1994. She also served as pastoral minister at St. Ambrose in Bridgeport, Conn., in 1983.

From 1996 until her death, Sister Salvator was a prayer minister at the Marian Convent and Our Lady of Peace Residence in Scranton.

She earned a bachelor's in education from Marywood University in Scranton and a master's in French from Assumption College in Worcester, Mass.

To read more obituary articles, click here.