

Ss. John and Paul

Ss. John and Paul were Christian brothers who lived in Rome. They were martyred in their home after refusing to serve in the household of Julian the Apostate, a pagan emperor. The brothers are listed in the “Communicantes” in the Roman Canon of the Mass. A basilica in Rome is named for the brothers.