

St. Apollonia

St. Apollonia is the patron saint of dentists, tooth disease and toothaches. In Alexandria, Egypt, around the year 249, a group of non-Christians broke her teeth and told her to commit blasphemy or be burned alive. St. Apollonia jumped into the fire.