St. Nicholas I

St. Nicholas I was born circa 825 in Rome. He became pope in 858. The pope tried to make the Holy See stronger, and he also found solutions for religious disputes. For example, he affirmed a bishop's right to appeal against his archbishop to Rome. St. Nicholas I died in 867.