

St. Thomas Becket

St. Thomas Becket was born in London in 1118. He served as archdeacon of Canterbury and chancellor of England. He was ordained in 1162 and became archbishop of Canterbury. This saint resisted the king's interference in church matters. He was martyred in 1170. St. Thomas Becket is patron saint of the clergy.