

Steve Angrisano visits the Baltimore crowd at NCYC

INDIANAPOLIS - For the Archdiocese of Baltimore contingent, one of the biggest news to come out of the National Catholic Youth Conference (NCYC), was that Steve Angrisano, one of the biggest names in Catholic music, will be the keynote at the Baltimore Youth Catholic Conference in November, 2012 in Ocean City. BYCC attracted more than 500 kids from Maryland a year ago and brings the NCYC experience home to Maryland, with music, worship and faith.

Steve took some time to sing with the kids of Baltimore after the first NCYC night. Check out what happens when Father Matt Buening, pastor of St. Paul parish in Ellicott, joins a teen and Steve on stage.
