MADRID- It's hard to explain how draining the last few days have been for the Archdiocese of Baltimore kids, who have been spiritually, mentally and physically tested. But, today, after experiencing the U.S. Mass with their country's bishops, the pilgrims from the Archdiocese of Baltimore are back in big way. Five young people were altar servers during the Mass and Archbishop O'Brien met with all the pilgrims after briefly. He will talk more with them tomorrow after the Papal Mass.
