

Well, I want to blame Jesus for dropping that pass

God and Jesus get a lot of credit in sports when someone crushes a game-winning home run or runs for 180 yards and three touchdowns.

Buffalo Bills receiver Steve Johnson wasn't so lucky Sunday. He dropped a potential game-winning touchdown in his team's loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers. Then he blamed God, who apparently had flipped to the Ravens game and lost his concentration.

Steve Johnson's tweet (yahoo.com)