

Woodmont Academy fosters love of learning

We are a new family to Woodmont Academy, and we have been delighted with the decision. From the beginning, it was quite apparent to us that the faculty, staff, administration and students have a love of learning, a love of our Catholic faith and a love of community. “Archbishop raises concerns over Legion” (CR, Feb. 26), however, may have linked the good work done at Woodmont Academy by its fine staff, administration and faculty to lingering questions about the founder of the Legionaries of Christ.

Our investment in a private, Catholic education for our daughter is not a decision we made lightly. The “Integral Formation” educational method, developed by the Legionaries of Christ, played a huge role in our choice of Woodmont Academy among several fine Catholic schools in our area. Even at the preschool age, we see evidence of the benefit of emphasis on intellect, faith, character, and service.
