MISSION STATEMENT

Catholic schools in the Archdiocese of Baltimore provide a Christ-centered education that is academically excellent and empowers students to reach their full potential—spiritually, intellectually, physically, socially, and morally. Fostered through robust collaboration among all stakeholders, the mission is accomplished through accountable leadership at all levels, ongoing and coordinated strategic planning, centralized efficiencies, and financial sustainability.

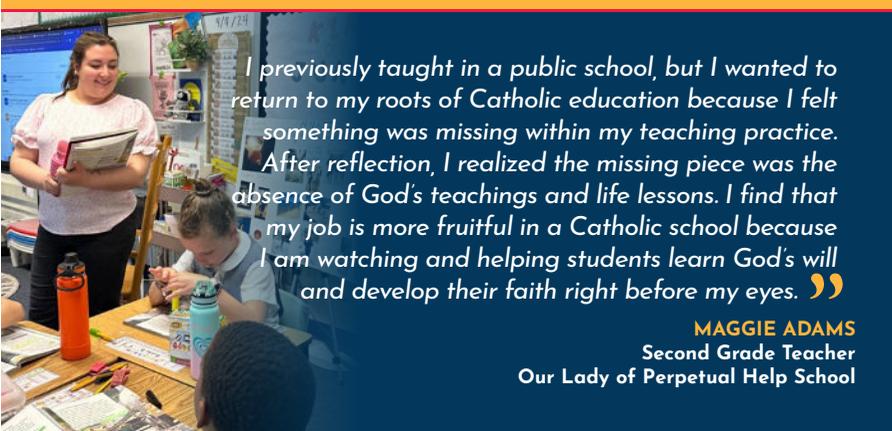

VISION STATEMENT

Catholic schools in the Archdiocese of Baltimore nurture and sustain the God-given gifts of every person, especially students, to be used in service to the mission of Jesus.

Although I'm not Catholic, I respect the mission and the community within our local Catholic schools. I started working in a Catholic school right out of college because I enjoyed the benefits of working for a Catholic school. I've been teaching here for 14 years, and I'm so glad that I made the decision to consider the Archdiocese of Baltimore! ”

SALLIE BENNETT
Physical Education Teacher
Immaculate Heart of Mary School

I previously taught in a public school, but I wanted to return to my roots of Catholic education because I felt something was missing within my teaching practice. After reflection, I realized the missing piece was the absence of God's teachings and life lessons. I find that my job is more fruitful in a Catholic school because I am watching and helping students learn God's will and develop their faith right before my eyes. ”

Why Teach at the AOB?

- 1. Students who are ready to learn. At the Archdiocese of Baltimore, our students are present both literally and figuratively. We make attendance a top priority to keep our students on the path to success. We also have a no-phone policy during instruction time to ensure that our students are focused on their lessons instead of digital distractions.
- 2. A positive culture of respect. We empower teachers to do what they do best. Dedicated teachers choose the Archdiocese of Baltimore so that they can focus their time and talent on instruction and minimal time on classroom management. Our curriculum, rooted in our Catholic tradition, instills within students a profound respect for self and for others, especially our teachers.
- 3. Support from the administration. Teaching is a noble profession, and at the Archdiocese of Baltimore, teachers are supported by the administration to create a safe environment that is responsive to the needs of our educators. We empower our teachers with the tools and training they need to succeed. When challenges arise, our teachers know the administration will take bold steps to remedy the situation rather than taking the path of least resistance.
- 4. Freedom to live your faith. Although we have teachers and students of various faith backgrounds, our curriculum is deeply rooted in our Catholic tradition to develop the whole child: academically, socially, physically, and spiritually. Our teachers play a primary role in the development of tomorrow's faith-driven, conscientious leaders. The Archdiocese of Baltimore empowers teachers to live their faith and share the joy of God's love in their professional life.
